Notes:

- These are fluid numbers, the Office of Coalfield will continue to monitor for changes in job numbers as well as the addition of sites that are not included on this Chart
- This includes sites that have had prior mining activity. This includes sites with a designated post mine land use in the permit, properties mined prior to 1977 and projects where a permit was not needed due to incidental coal
- Job numbers come from various sources including the Harris Directory, articles concerning the development and phone interviews of the development
- Jobs encompass all known jobs on sites including public and private employees, full time, part time and seasonal employees and construction employees. These numbers include what are considered direct and indirect employment in terms of economic development and a job multiplier should not be used for economic impact studies
